

Tissot Heritage 1948

Tissot Heritage 1948-kolleksjonen er inspirert av et Tissot-ur som dateres tilbake til 1948, og som er en del av merkevarens museumssamling. På den tiden produserte Tissot mange kronograf modeller til herrer, ment for ingeniører, teknikere, leger og idrettsmenn som trengte et pålitelig presisjonsinstrument. Den nye kolleksjonen er tro mot denne filosofien levert med automatikk verk og originale detaljer som nagle indekser, spesialformede lugs og blad formede visere. Tissot har tatt en historisk modell og kombinert den med moderne stil. De nye modellene har en lysere farge på urkassen med polerte detaljer. Romertallet på klokken tolv, dato vinduet mellom klokken fire og fem gir klokken et moderne preg. Denne kolleksjonen kommer med sofistikert sort eller brun skinnrem eller trendy Milanese lenke.

Tissot Heritage 1948

It's time for a piece of history

Legacy

The Tissot Heritage 1948 collection, as its name indicates, is inspired by a Tissot watch that dates back to 1948 and which is part of the brand's museum collection. At the time, Tissot produced numerous chronograph gent models. They were destined for "engineers, technicians, doctors and sports men", who needed a reliable instrument of precision. The new collection remains true to that philosophy by providing the accuracy the company is known for, in a beautiful automatic movement, which can be seen through the meticulously worked see-through caseback. Original details, such as the three counters on the dial further attest to that precision. Other features remain, such as the two pushers, the minute-track, stud details and the special shaped lugs and leaf hands, reminiscent of their ancestor's design.

A contemporary touch

Tissot has taken a historical beauty and combined it with an up-to-the-minute style. The new models have a lighter coloured case that play with satin and polished finishes for an elegant result. The Roman index at 12 o'clock and the useful date display between the indices 4 and 5 add a contemporary touch. This collection offers models with sophisticated black or brown leather straps or a trendy Milanese bracelet. It's time to unite past and present.
